

and Tumbling Shoals bridges have been somewhat damaged.

On Rabun Creek, the bridges at Anderson Mill, McPherson, McDaniel's Mill, Goodgion, Mahaffey, and Abercrombie are all reported gone.

A small bridge on Dirty Creek also at McDaniel's Mill was washed away. This, however, has already been rebuilt by Messrs. Chesterfield and Evans McDaniel.

On Warrior Creek, the bridge near Lanford and the one at Byrd's Mill are gone, and is also the one at Lanford's Mill on Beaverdam Creek.

One bridge on Duncan's Creek was washed away and another at Durbin Creek at Leonard's Ford.

It is reported that, on Enoree River, the Allen, Woodruff, Harris, and Musgrove bridges are all gone and also the old mill house at Musgrove. A report has also reached here to the effect that the Jones bridge on the same river is badly damaged and a considerable part of it washed away. Other damages to bridges on the Enoree have been to the Cooper, Kilgore, and Yarbrough bridges.

Quite a number of smaller bridges were washed away, while others were more or less damaged.

The Power House at Boyd's Mill was damaged to the extent of forcing it out of business for a few days. The managers hope to be able to serve the public in about a week.

On the public roads, several washouts have been reported, but otherwise the hard rain seemed to have a packing effect.

Of course the farms were badly washed and the farmers are forced to put in some extra work on this account.

The heavy rain was general over the southeast and much damage to railroads and cotton mills have been reported.

The schedule on the C. & W. C. road has been very irregular on account of the damage done to the trestle on the Savannah River. This trestle, however, is not entirely gone as was first reported.

The only life reported to have been lost was in this county. This great calamity happened to Mr. Cheves C. Ligon, who owned a dairy on Enoree River. He and William Pulley attempted to cross the river supposedly in a small boat which was swept down the rushing current and Mr. Ligon was drowned. It is reported that his body has since been found. In some seemingly miraculous way, Mr. Pully escaped death.

nessed
and Ch
making
the fug
day mo
From h
to Lexi
rested
made to ley's v
the trai
and nig
brough
Red.

Sher
the situ
men w
follow
not ab
man de

Mou
and ex
preme
noon,
Rhett
negro
comm
fore th
ful cr
From
to hur
der.

Wesley
Mrs. C
had ki
farm,
Hill h
indulg
with
had be
urday
ing ag
to stay
hands
hill in
yards
minute
shots
made
cause.
Three
found
death,

from
learned
others
was b
been k
little
and ot
soon a
here M
ried h
Prospe
brothe
suit.

Justice
with M
and be
finishe
verdict