

day.

The Rev. Jas. Fair preached a very impressive and eloquent sermon in the Methodist Church on Sunday night last. His text was from the 2d chap. of the first epistle of John, 1st verse.

The regular monthly meeting of the Thompson Street Church Foreign Missionary Society, was held on last Tuesday evening, on which occasion an able address was delivered by T. S. Moor- man, Esq., an interesting letter from Miss Galloway, Missionary at Cairo, Egypt, was read, and a very liberal col- lection taken up. The letter alluded to we will present to our readers in next issue.

"Col. Peake expects soon to reach the portion [of the Laurens Railroad] where the T rail is used."

Just so, Mr. Herald. But who of us poor ignorant people in Abbeville know where the T rail is? If the Laurensville Herald and the Newberry Herald don't quit speaking in riddles about the Lau- rens Railroad, we will see that the edi- tors' angels don't get a free pass over that important railway.

[Abbeville Press & Banner.]

The editors of the Press & Banner are not the men for small "tea parties" nor have they travelled much, other- wise they would know where the T rail is situated. Lest they rail at us again we hasten to inform them that the T rail is situated between two and three miles this side of Clinton, and that Clin- ton is nine miles below Laurens. Let us have peace. In this connection we are happy to state that Col. Peake is working his force like beavers, and ere long the whistle of his train will rever- berate through the city of Laurens. Trips from Newberry to the T. rail are made daily.
